Does God Need The Church

The title of the book poses the fundamental question: Does God "need" the Church? The book is a resounding "Yes!" We know that God "needs" a special, chosen People simply because, from the beginning of Creation, God has always had a special, chosen People. It is the revealed nature of how God works in the world.

Does God Need the Church?: Toward a Theology of the People ...

Church life is declining and the religions are returning, often in new guises. In light of these shifts and the change in his own view of community, Father Lohfink inquires in Does God Need the Church? of Israel's theology, Jesus' praxis, the experiences of the early Christian communities, and of what is appearing in the Church today.

To have Jesus, you don't need the Church. You'll most often find it in Protestantism, but it has also seeped its way into the Catholic Church. If you have ever heard anybody say that they love Jesus but hate the Church or that Christianity is a relationship rather than a religion, then you've probably encountered this kind of Christianity.

If You Want Jesus, You Need the Church - Catholic Stand

For the church lies at the very centre of the eternal purpose of God.” 1 God does not save people from sin without also saving them into the body of Christ. In calling unchurched Christians a “grotesque anomaly,” Stott is simply joining his voice with the consistent teaching of the church throughout its history.

Does the Bible Require Christians to Attend Church ...

God is offering you a gift in the local church—both for your good and for the good of others. The statement “I love Jesus; I just don't care for the church” does not make sense when we understand the church is a gift given to the people of God for the glory of God. As we love Christ, we love his beloved bride.

Why We Need the Church : 9Marks

I've already posted quite a few blogs on the Investigative Judgment (IJ) doctrine of the Seventh-day Adventist church and how I feel about it in light of the Bible but I thought I would re-visit the concept. One question that pops to mind when you study the IJ is, Why does God need to investigate?

Why Does God Need to "Investigate?" — The Story Church Project

Gerhard Lohfink poses these questions with scholarly reliability and on the basis of his own experience of community in Does God Need the Church?In 1982 Father Lohfink wrote Wie hat Jesus Gemeinde gewollt? (translated into English asJesus and Community) to show, on the basis of the New Testament, that faith is founded in a community that distinguishes itself in clear contours from the rest of society.

Project MUSE - Does God Need the Church?

God does need the church insofar as it is an essential part of God's plan of salvation. That much is predictable. The way Lohfink tells the story of salvation, however, goes far beyond the standard ecclesiologies' attempts to choose from various "models" of the church or to make the church "relevant" to today's society.

God gave us the Bible and the church so we can know what's from Him. Through the church's authority structure, we can test and see what's of God and what isn't when we can't tell on our own. When we've prayed, read the Bible, and still aren't sure what to do, the church is where we go for advice. 4.

Four reasons Christians need the church | Articles ...

The Church is a group of people called out for a special purpose. They are “called”—that is called by God. Those truly part of God’s Church have been called by God to become part of His Church. They are called out of the world—the society around us—to become followers of Christ—to be Christians.

What Is the Church? - Life, Hope & Truth

Maybe we would do better if a radical liberal was elected. Maybe then we would wake up as a church and stop putting our trust in the government and the White House.” To this the supporter replies, “Oh, that’s a great idea, kind of like not treating cancer so we can see God perform a miracle. Not on my watch!”
